Dear Vickie and Jim,

Our stormy bad weather ended and today was beautiful so we cleaned out the storage closet and went to the dump.

I feel just terrible that parts of your logy sassa are missing. If you can't get them I am going to send you the pieces from my set because you are the ones who should have the complete set. It is just beautiful. The salad set is also beautiful and I went thru all the papers to double check on the missing pieces to your set but to no avail.

Stella and I have been trying to make omelets like you do, Jim, but so far we just can't do it. We will keep practicing.

I really love the book on the Teaching of Buddha. I have always liked that kind of reading and I just really enjoy that book. I understand it and it does alot for my mental attitude.

Mary and Mike were over Friday Night and we played a few hands of bridge.

Sunday Morning —

After having such a beautiful day yesterday, it is snowing today, very lightly so far. I am going to the post office now and the super market.

Have a good time during Thanksgiving week end.

Love,
Mom.
